

sonic.net, as an independent ISP, has provided excellent, personalized service over the years. It would be a tragedy to grant large monopolies like BellSouth the freedom from regulation, thereby allowing them to price independent ISP's out of the market.